 MMMonVHF and the 144 MHz SPORADIC E saison 2011 **

The VHF-DX-Portal MMMonVHF normaly does not publish reports for Sporadic E on frequencies below 144 MHz. However, it seems that the season is on it's way as there was some Sporadic E on 50 MHz to the southwest. Also in 2011 we like to invite to to send your Sporadic E logs to MMMonVHF. We will try to have them online as soon as possible. Be aware that this is not an automatic process so it takes to to see your log show up in the list. No need to send it twice the same day! ... more: http://www.mmmonvhf.de/es.php

 QSL service for Ed, LU7DZ (SK) by Ray, WA4NJP **

Hello All. I have in my hand the log book of LU7DZ (SK), I am not sure that all of his work is contained. The first entry is dated 20-4-86, a 144 MHz CW QSO with W5UN. The last entry is dated 10-10-09 a 432 MHz CW QSO with K1RQG. The log contains about 650 QSOs on 144 and 432. If you did not receive a QSL directly from Eduardo and your QSO is within the above times, send me an email with ?LU7DZ QSL? in subject, stating date, time, freq and mode. I will look at log and reply I am having some QSLs printed and will send to those who request and are verified by the log that I have plus cost ($1 for stateside, $2 for others) please no IRC as my post doesn?t like them?This will be an all summer project as there are many noted as not QSLed , Please be patient Enjoy the hobby, any mode, any time the moon is up, its our hobby...

 DXCC: PJ2 ; Square: FK52 ; FINISHED  LOG and details at our REVIEW: http://www.mmmonvhf.de/review.php

Johan PA3FPQ, Jurgen PE1LWT and Rene PE1L was on travel (after their PJ4X activity) to PJ2, the new DXCC Curacao in FK52NC. Its finished now! The A-team dismantled this morning the PJ2/PE1L station. Within one hour the Antenna system was down and finally we could use our dreamhouse (Dushi Korsou www.vakantiewoningenincuracao.nl/Villa-Dushi-Korsou.html) where it was mentioned for, relaxing at the pool. While swimming around we discussed the pro and cons of the expedition and we made a list of it Even new trips to exciting places where discussed. Total results for the PJ2 trip are 245 inits in 41 countries on 144MHz. We made tropo qso with PJ4X Meteorscatter with WP4G (beside a EME qso), A CW qso with OZ1HNE on 144 MHz. A CW qso with DL9KR on 432 MHz. 12 QSOï¿½s on 432MHz via EME PJ4X will be still active at 144MHz till the end of April and the results will be published then... About sponsoring: All sponsors for PJ2 expedition will be mentioned on the website www.emelogger.com/curacao?page=sponsor and tomorrow our maid will pick blind folded 10 callsigns out a bowl for the shorthand sunglasses. All stations who do send extra money with QSL card will be mentioned on this page as well (10$ or more) About QSL: All QSL wil go via PE1L and we kindly ask you to keep in mind that if you want QSL from both countries that you include enough to cover the costs. A order for QSL cards will go out soon, based on earlier experience with the printer, this can take some time (C56EME cards where lost in mail and are resend now) You can see your QST status on the log page and www.emelogger.com/curacao and www.emelogger.com/bonaire
If you do a logsearch you can see if you are in the log, if your card is received and if our card is send to you.If you have a non confirmed QSO with PE1L, PE1LWT or PA3FPQ please send your card with the card for the expedition. SOURCE: tnx to Rene, PE1L and Team, direct to MMMonVHF

 Grid Trip DN00/01/02/03/04/11/12 by Dennis, K7BV **

LATEST NEWS from K7BV Dennis, dated 2011-04-14: Below is the operating schedule as I know it today for my 6 Meters DNxx Grid Trip Apr 19-29. The trip is based on a roundtrip drive from Southern California to Boise, ID for a Hamfest. My wife and I will make the trip in our SUV recently outfitted for portable 6m operating.
Barry KS7DX will be my Pilot Station and serve as my contact person.
Barry will have my cell phone number. SOURCE: Dennis K7BV @ Reflector Take details and schedule from: www.mmmonvhf.de/latest.php?id=3760
LATEST NEWS from K7BV Dennis, dated 2011-04-17: Plans for the DN Grid Trip are coming along smoothly. Below is the revised schedule for the trip with a few changes included...but all the grids still covered.
DN14 is now included as a result of moving the DN04 operation to a DN04/14 border. I have also noted a possible stop on the way home on the DM17/18 border if I can determine there is enough interest... we would have to rely on evening instead of morning rocks... Weather Alert: The current weather forecast for the first half of the trip includes rain and snow. The grid stops are generally at an elevation where snow will be possible. I hope this less than perfect weather will not slow me down or otherwise affect the schedule. If it does, I will immediately get the word to Barry KS7DX so that he can post that news... 2011-04-19: My cancer doc today gave me the final green light to make the trip so my wife and I will depart as planned early Tuesday AM. The weather forecast for the first grid stops continues to be unfavorable but I will do my very best to deal with whatever Mother Nature has to throw at me. SO CHECK OUT FOR DENNIS....

 6m from 5W0GJ in AH36un **

In order to provide the most possible advance time for stations to get ready, I am now announcing the upcoming 6m EME DXpedition from the northeast corner of Savai'i Island, Samoa during the final week of August, 2011. License and airline tickets are now in hand.
The planned operation schedule, DXpedition details and Google Earth photo of the operating QTH are shown on my web page:
http://www.bigskyspaces.com/w7gj/Samoa2011.htm
As you can see on the above website, any contributions are gratefully being accepted. Last year's operation from 3D2LR resulted in contacts with 52 different stations via 6m EME (26,000,000 miles' worth of contacts), and there are more and larger stations QRV now, so I sure will do my best to try to better that record...

 VE9AA qrv in May as Newfoundland, as VO1TTT/M **

I will be active aprox May 7-16th from many grids all across VE9, VE1 and (mostly) Newfoundland, as VO1TTT/M using 100w and a large vertical (HS-1800/Pro). This will be holiday style and not a dedicated expedition, but I will probably call CQ beacon style while in motion (QRG to be determined) QRV from 40m thru 2m, mostly CW and concentrating on 6m. May also monitor 28.885MHz when no 6m prop. No Internet access while mobile. 73
